

5 KEY MARKET EVENTS

THAT SHAPED GLOBAL MARKETS IN 2025

01

TRUMP INAUGURATION 2025: EARLY POLICY SIGNALS

- Markets welcomed the absence of immediate tariffs.
- US equities rallied on optimism.
- Energy sector weakened as oil prices fell.
- Yields rose modestly on tariff and supply expectations.

02

TRADE POLICY ESCALATION: THE 2025 TARIFF ANNOUNCEMENTS

- Sweeping tariffs triggered sharp market sell-offs.
- Equities plunged across the board.
- Gold surged as a safe haven.
- Oil prices fell amid global growth concerns.

03

WARREN BUFFETT'S DEPARTURE AS CEO

- End of an era after over 60 years at Berkshire Hathaway.
- Investor sentiment turned cautious.
- Berkshire stock dipped despite strong fundamentals.
- Focus shifted to succession and capital allocation.

04

US GOVERNMENT SHUTDOWN AND MARKET UNCERTAINTY

- Prolonged shutdown created data gaps and policy uncertainty.
- Volatility rose across equities and bonds.
- Safe-haven demand supported Treasuries and the US dollar.
- Business and consumer confidence declined.

05

FEDERAL RESERVE PIVOT TO EASING CYCLE

- Fed shifted from restrictive policy to measured rate cuts.
- Lower yields supported equities and risk assets.
- Markets became highly sensitive to data and Fed guidance.
- Easing cycle provided relief but uncertainty remained.

2025 was a year of major shifts—policy, politics and markets converged to reshape investor sentiment and global financial conditions.

